

Press info, September 11, 2025

Top conditions on the difficult sixth stage of the Transalpine Run 2025 from Zernez to Scuol. Benedikt Nussbaum and Verena Hohenrainer dominate the solo category

After two days of rain, the sun finally returned to the Transalpine Run and compensated the remaining 591 runners with great trails and a magnificent panorama in the Swiss Lower Engadine. 34 kilometers and almost 2300 meters of altitude had to be conquered. Tomorrow is the grand finale with the final stage to Lake Reschen in South Tyrol.

Benedikt Nussbaum was the only one to stay under the 4-hour mark (3:56 h) and continues to dominate the solo classification. "That was a great stage with an extremely tough first climb," said a delighted Nussbaum. Nils Bergmann remains second ahead of Andreas Steiner. A similar picture in the women's race: Verena Hohenrainer won in a strong 4:32 h ahead of Katja Tegler and Anja Westphal.

The US American Matthew Shamey, who has only reached the podium once before, recorded a surprising victory in 4:18 h in the MASTER MEN. However, the Colombian Alejandro Gonzalez (4:31 h) remains in the lead. Colin Furrer continues to dominate the SENIOR MASTER MEN in 4:15 h. Tanja Plaikner won her second stage in the MASTER WOMEN's race, but Silvia Felt-Balbach, who came second today, remains clearly in the lead.

In the team competition, there are no changes in the overall standings for WOMEN, MEN and MIXED: Johannes Gerloff and Daniel Greiner from the DYNAFIT X RENNSTEIGLAUFVEREIN team were able to extend their lead with their fifth victory of the day (4:15 h). In the WOMEN'S category, the Finnish NORDIC WOMEN Maijla Hakala and Elisa Sihlova remain clear leaders. The same goes for the MIXED, where Johanna Ehrenklau and Arne Wolff from TWOPEAKSENDURANCE X THE NORTH FACE dominated the race.

Strong performance by TAR warhorses Lord Jens Kramer and Benjamin Klöppel from WERUN4FUN: with their first stage victory in 4:39 h, they moved up to second place in the overall standings behind the leading #HATANDCAP (Stefan Klos, Stephan Niermann).

All information and results at
<https://www.transalpine-run.com/live-center/>

The legendary trailrunning event across the Alps
Das legendäre Trailrunning Event über die Alpen

GARMIN.

