The start of a great adventure: the Transalpine Run delivers a trail running spectacle on the first stage from Lech am Arlberg to Bludenz

The Dynafit Transalpine Run powered by Garmin 2025 adventure began with a spectacular stage: after heavy snowfall the day before, the runners set off on a modified route over 39 kilometers from Lech am Arlberg to Bludenz in perfect weather. Exactly 924 runners took up the challenge. In the end, most of the favorites won.

TAR team: the first men and women in command

Only one TAR team made it under 4 hours: the favored "DYNAFIT x RENNSTEIGLAUFVEREIN" (GER) with Daniel Greiner and Johannes Gerloff. The two ran to a comfortable lead of around half an hour ahead of Team PÖLLNER SPORTS TEISENDORF (GER) and the Belgian team VAN BALLAER. And the favorites also delivered in the women's race: Team NORDIC WOMEN with Maijla Hakala and Elisa Sihlova from Finland won in 5:09 hours ahead of the two German teams NEXT LEVEL and BOCK auf BERG.

The mixed teams and the age categories were much closer. All results at https://www.transalpine-run.com/leader_ergebnisse/

SOLO: 274 starters - more than ever before

Bendikt Nussbaum (GER) won in a commanding 3:48 h, ahead of Nils Bergmann (4:09 h) and Christoph Stark (4:17 h). The fastest woman was Verena Hohenrainer from Austria in 4:09 h, ahead of Simone Räss (CH, 4:34 h) and Tanja Plaikner from Italy (4:35 h).

RUN2: fastest time of the day

Great sport also in the RUN2 competitions: TEMPODANDEM x SALOMON with Dominik Hohenleitner and Tobias Schmid ran the fastest time of the day in 3:42 hrs. Carmen Selb and Theres Reich from the "LECHTALER NATURPARKLAUF" team won the women's race in 4:09 h, while the fastest mixed team in 4:31 h was "TREFFPUNKT SCHWANSEEPARKPLATZ" with Julia Güthling and David Frank.

The second stage will take place tomorrow on September 7, covering 33 kilometers and 2,300 meters of altitude from Bludenz to Brand.
